Where ears ripen beneath the summer sun
Now reapers move across the field, leaving swathes
Binders follow making sheaves; a harvest won

God, in Your grace, transform the world

Extract from the Prayer delivered at the 9th Assembly of the World Council of Churches February 2006

By the power and guidance of your Holy Spirit, O God, may our prayers never be empty words

but an urgent response to your living Word - in nonviolent direct action for positive change, in bold, clear, specific acts of solidarity,
liberation, healing and compassion,
readily sharing the good news of Jesus Christ.

Open our hearts to love and to see that all people are made in your image, to care for creation and affirm life in all its wondrous diversity.

God, in your grace, transform the world.

Dear Friends

In our country we definitely have a preoccupation with weather. It's what we talk about when we have nothing else to say to people. Then again weather in Scotland certainly gives us plenty to talk about!

We also spend a lot of our time thinking and talking about the past – most usually as we make comparisons with the current day. We often look at the past through rose tinted spectacles. We often make the past more interesting, more colourful than it actually was.

We think it always snowed at Christmas, we think it never rained in the summer, we think we were happier, that we had less hassles in our lives. Sometimes this may be true, but the point is, we spend a lot of time thinking about the past - sometimes so much so that we have a tendency to become laborious and conservative in the present. We become so preoccupied with memory that we forget that we have options for today and choices to make that will influence the future.

Jesus came into the world at a time when many were preoccupied with the past and the stories of their religious heritage. Many were trying to reclaim that life with God that they believed their ancestors to have; many were trying to build a future on the traditions of the past, praying for a Messiah who would be like the warriors and leaders of their past, a king who would bring back the good old days.

But God of course surprised everybody by introducing Jesus who was very different from what people expected, and who totally confounded those who were so immersed in the past that they could not accept that God might have an alternative future in mind.

Jesus in many ways paid only lip service to his ancestral heritage. Yes, he respected it for its good bits, but he was more interested in people doing the right thing in a way fitting for their own time and in the light of the circumstances in which they lived. He almost said, 'Look folks the past is past! Now is now; it is today and it is the future that counts!'

When we seek to interpret the Bible and understand God's message for today – we must think with the mind of Christ. We must continually ask ourselves, not 'What would Jesus have done in his day?' but 'What would Jesus do now?' It is the living out of the Gospel in today's world that becomes our primary objective as the people of God's church in this generation -a vital objective not only for each individual Christian but also for the Christian communities around the world charged with witnessing Gods love to the people of today.

'What would Jesus have us do'? A question worth praying about!

Best wishes

Keith

On Thursday 21st August the Presbytery of Aberdeen held a Service of Introduction for Rev Alisa Ferlicca our new Associate Minister who begins her work with us in Mannofield. The service was well attended and in the Moderator's comments and prayers Keith, Alisa and Stiubhart as the 'Ministry Team' were charged with leading the congregation in Mission and Witness and establishing links within the community in Outreach.

Alisa completed her training at the Seminary in Princeton and was ordained as a Presbyterian Church of United States of America Minister in July. We welcome her to Mannofield and look forward to her work with us and her friendship.

In Session

At their meeting in early June, Kirk Session were updated on plans for the "be inspired" Stewardship campaign. Elsewhere, details are given of the events taking place during the Celebration and Friendship Week in September.

One year into Keith's ministry this campaign comes at the perfect time. From the financial point of view recent years have seen deficits in the accounts presented to the Annual General Meeting.

The campaign encourages everyone to review their "giving" in order that the financial situation is addressed. The campaign also encourages each person to "be inspired" by the vision for our church, and play a part in the church's work through the giving of our talent and time to further that work.

Turning to other matters, by the time you read this Kirk Session will have been reinforced by the ordination on 31 August of 16 new elders. The new additions to Session are: Gillian Slessor, Alistair Morrison, Fiona Chambers, Alastair Chambers, John Findlay, Graeme Martin, Alastair Hunter, Jamie Sutherland, Dianne Bridgeford, Niki Anderson, Claire Robertson, Ryan Webster, Nicola Henderson, Lesley Reid, Tom White, Louise Barrack. A warm welcome to all 16!

Session have also approved a reorganisation of the Congregational Board. The number of elders serving on the Board will be limited to 12 – three each from the Finance and Fabric committees, plus a further six elders who have volunteered to serve for periods of one or two years.

Hello to Mannofield Parish!

After several months of planning and waiting, followed by what felt like an even longer flight across the big blue ocean- I am here!

This past week has been full of meeting wonderful people, getting a lay of the land, unpacking and recovering from jetlag. I know a few months ago Keith wrote a lovely introduction for me in the InSpire Magazine and now I have the chance to do the same.

As many of you know, or will soon realise when you hear me speak, I am from the United States. I grew up in Indianapolis, Indiana. My home church was a wonderful place of nurture and growth and over 4,500 members!

It was there I learned the joy of faith, the community of church and the love of our Great Redeemer. After high school I attended a Christian College in Tennessee, to receive a double major in Bible/Ministry and Humanities. During college I also spent a year abroad at St. Andrews. While I was there I made a quick weekend trip to Aberdeen, never knowing one day I would be living here! After college, I studied for three years at Princeton Theological Seminary. This summer holiday was full of joys, graduating, ordination and planning my move to Aberdeen.

I had a professor who once told us that the journey God led him on only made sense when he looked back on all that has led up to the present. In the midst of the journey it does not always make sense-that is why we have faith. But, when we stop and look back, we see in a new light that wondrous journey our Creator has led us on. In the present we can see clearly what we could not see before-that God was there all along preparing us for what was ahead of us.

The more I look back, the more I see this in my own life: from childhood, to college, to studying in Scotland, to accepting the call to serve as a minister, to seminary and now serving here at Mannofield.

God leads us to places we would have never imagined when we are open to it. I am excited that my next step on this great journey of faith is here in Mannofield with all of you. I look forward to meeting you and learning about your journeys!

Grace and Peace,

Rev. Alisa Ferlicca

Possibly we never hear God's voice because we are too often letting Him hear ours.

Please God help me, save me, give me.

Don't let THAT happen. Please make THIS happen. Why don't you answer me?

Of course He answers us but we don't recognise it because it's not the answers we want.

One Christmas a little girl said to her family "What are we giving Jesus for his birthday?"

She had a point there. It would make a difference if, at least sometime, we said, "Lord what can we do for You?" The writer of Hymn 551 in Mission Praise had this in mind

Likeness to Thee
That each departing day
Henceforth may see
Some work of love begun
Some deed of kindness done
Some wanderer sought and won
Something for Thee.

Brenda and her friend were doing a rock climb, hundreds of feet up an almost vertical cliff. Halfway, she stopped for a rest and to admire the view. The safety rope flicked her face and dislodged her contact lens. Trying not to panic she carefully searched the ledge and her clothes with blurred vision but no sign of the lens. Fearing she wouldn't be able to finish the climb, she prayed for calm. She got to the top but was very disappointed that she couldn't see the view.

She remembered the verse "The eyes of the Lord run to and fro throughout the whole earth.....". Brenda thought, "Lord you can see this lovely view. You know where every stone and leaf lies. You know exactly where my lens is. Please help me."

The girls hiked down to the foot of the trail and met some climbers just starting up the cliff face. One young man called to them, "Either of you lose a contact lens?"

Almost silenced with the wonder of it, Brenda asked how he had managed to see it. He said, "I saw it moving slowly along a twig on the back of an ant."

Brenda's father is a cartoonist and, on hearing this amazing story, he drew a little picture of the ant struggling along the twig, lugging the contact lens with the caption. "Lord, I don't know why I'm carrying this thing, I can't eat it, but if you want me to do it, I'll carry it for you."

He goes on to say we might adopt the same attitude as the ant. Instead of complaining about the burdens we have to carry, look on them as a task done for the Lord.

THE WELL

Dear Friends

What a wonderful surprise when the cheque for £970 from the Well arrived - a magnificent sum which I have passed on to help in the work my brother, Hamish, and his wife, Anne, are doing in Cameroon with VSO. Hamish took early retirement as a GP and Anne from teaching. They have been out in the French-speaking part in the extreme north of the country since last September. One of the first people they met was another volunteer well-known to Mannofield, Victoria Stewart.

Hamish is working in the Protestant Hospital of Zidim. He went out to set up an AIDS programme, but is one of only two doctors there at the moment. Anne has been working with four schools in the bush on development programmes. She takes an English class once a week - 160 in the class and no books!

Some of you may remember their daughter Shona who came to evening services when she studied in Aberdeen. Shona is a physiotherapist and has joined her parents for three months to help in the hospital, not only working with patients but also helping to train the nursing staff.

Hamish asked me to pass on their thanks. "This is a tremendous donation and we should be able to do a lot with it. The minimum wage in Cameroon is £28 a month, but here in the Extreme North most folk don't have paying jobs and if they do few of them get that much, so you will realise this is a huge sum of money."

It has been a great boost and encouragement to Anne and Hamish to receive this support from Mannofield. If anyone wants to follow their adventures the blog address is <http://blog.mailasail.com/hamish.tait>

With grateful thanks to you all
Elizabeth Anderson

On the afternoon of our June communion, Joe Boyd, one of Mannofield's longest serving elders, died in hospital at the age of 84 following a stroke. Joe had been an elder of our church for 45 years and for some of those years was our Treasurer and Finance Convenor. A modest man who made friends easily with his sharp wit and ready smile, Joe was described by one of our past ministers, Rev. James Falconer, as "a man of great integrity and strong Christian faith, who was unpurchaseable."

At the memorial service for Joe in our church, tributes were given by no fewer than three ministers as Keith and George were joined by Rev. Bill Wilkie, the retired minister of South St. Nicholas Kincorth Church, who talked movingly of how grateful he and his congregation had been to Joe for his skills, support and friendship when they had needed them most. In the 1970s Joe had responded to an appeal for help from Kincorth who had only seven elders. In his own words, "I found myself hot-footing it down to the vestry as if I had to be first in the queue for a bargain offer. I told Rev. John Anderson that if the help they needed was anything to do with finance, I was prepared to help. John's reply "Joe, I am proud to be your minister." gave me the humblest moment of my life." Joe already had a district at Mannofield but he took on another district at Kincorth, successfully researched and reclaimed a four year backlog of tax from their Covenants and provided wise counsel to the Kincorth office bearers on matters of finance. Although he was only asked to help for a year, it was typical of Joe that he continued his commitment to them for 10 years, during which time he attended two services each Sunday morning: 9.30am at Mannofield and then 11.00am at Kincorth for what Joe called his "double dose of religion."

Joe Boyd was born and raised in Glasgow where he attended Rutherglen Academy, before training and qualifying as a Chartered Accountant in the Glasgow accounting firm where he met Chris who was to become his devoted wife of 57 years. His early career was spent with British Gas in Glasgow and Kilmarnock, but in 1960 Joe and Chris moved to Aberdeen so that he could take a position in local government finance, latterly serving as Deputy Treasurer of Aberdeenshire County Council. He took early retirement at the time of reorganisation in 1975 and became part-time Secretary of the Royal Northern Club. He and Chris enjoyed their membership of Cults Bowling Club where Joe served at various times as their President, Secretary, and Treasurer.

Joe was a dearly loved father to Barry and Valerie and proud grandfather to Emma and Cameron. He was extremely proud that both his children followed his example by serving others. Barry is the Rev. Barry Boyd, Minister of St. Laurence Church, Forres and Valerie is a teacher specialising in children with special needs. The love and devotion of Chris and his family helped Joe through several operations and then in his final years supported him during the cruellest of illnesses, Alzheimer's disease. As a fellow C.A. and former treasurer, it was a great pleasure and privilege for me to serve Joe as his elder for the last twelve years. I will always remember him as a smartly dressed gentleman and a true Christian who, together with Chris, would always welcome me into his home with a warm smile and a firm handshake.

At this time of our Stewardship campaign, it is well worth reflecting on Joe's words when acknowledging the thanks of South St. Nicholas Kincorth Church : "We all have some gift. No matter how trivial it might seem to us, it could be a godsend to someone else. So next time you are asked to help, accept the challenge, and no matter what you have to offer it is as nothing compared to the blessings you will receive in return."

All Boys Brigade sections restart after the summer break on the following dates. Spaces are available in all sections and we would welcome all boys from the age of 5 up to 18.

Why not come along with a friend and try it out or see us at the Fun Day on 6 September for more details?

NOTES & NEWS

Ladies Bridge Club

The Ladies Summer Bridge Club are victims of their success. This well attended group which meets on a Monday evening in the summer is looking for card tables to supplement the fixed tables available in the Large Hall. These number no more than 8 and are poor things with ripped covers. Our members are patient but long suffering. The season will soon be at an end but if any church member would like to look through their attic they may find a table there in reasonable condition. The tables would remain the church property and the Club is willing to give an additional donation to the church funds. Please contact Aileen on 318935 or Myra on 324331.

BOOK REVIEW

As we are all involved in Mannofield's Stewardship Campaign, I thought that "Finding Faith" by Andrew Knowles might be an appropriate title to review this month. This edition was produced by Lion Publishing in 1994.

It considers the question Who am I? Where am I? Why am I? and Is there a God?

These are all very meaty questions but they are dealt with in a very readable way while giving us much to ponder. It is beautifully produced with numerous illustrations. I can really recommend it.

My next review for you will be in December. In the meantime I'm hoping that someone else in the Congregation will share a title that they have found inspiring. If you would like to do so, please send it to the office before the next deadline.

The new session begins on 23rd September

RiSE Praise Group opens our interesting and informative programme.

A warm welcome is extended to everyone – especially new faces.

Guild Coffee Morning – 2nd October

Choir

For the purpose of bringing together a group of singers to present a choral item at morning services, an appeal was made by pulpit intimation towards the end of July for additional singers. The response so far has been encouraging and practices have already commenced. These are held immediately after morning service (the choir elected to forego the tea/coffee break, preferring to get on with the practice). We would be pleased to have more people join us and the invitation is still open for others to come forward now.

Mannofield Church Bowling Club

The indoor session starts on Friday 26 September.

This year the Ladies Bowling Club has been joined by the Recreation Club and is now known as Mannofield Church Bowling Club.

The Club meets on Friday afternoons in the large hall from 2pm to 4pm. New members will be made very welcome. Flat shoes should be worn and bowls could be supplied for beginners.
